Handbook of Arthurian Romance - Leah Tether 2017-06-26
The renowned and illustrious tales of King Arthur, his knights and the Round Table pervade all European vernaculars, as well as the Latin tradition. Arthurian narrative material, which had originally been transmitted in oral culture, began to be inscribed regularly in the twelfth century, developing from (pseudo-)historical beginnings in the Latin chronicles of "historians" such as Geoffrey of Monmouth into masterful literary works like the romances of Chrétien de Troyes. Evidently a big hit, Arthur found himself being swiftly translated, adapted and integrated into the literary traditions of almost every European vernacular during the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. This Handbook seeks to showcase the European character of Arthurian romance both past and present. By working across national philological boundaries, which in the past have tended to segregate the study of Arthurian romance according to language, as well as by exploring primary texts from different vernaculars and the Latin tradition in conjunction with recent theoretical concepts and approaches, this Handbook brings together a pioneering and more complete view of the specifically European context of Arthurian romance, and promotes the more connected study of Arthurian literature across the entirety of its European context.

A Bibliographical Guide to the Study of Troubadours and Old Occitan Literature - Robert A Taylor 2015-10-02

Although it seemed in the mid-1970s that the study of the troubadours and of Occitan literature had reached a sort of zenith, it has since become apparent that this moment was merely a plateau from which an intensive renewal was being launched. In this new bibliographic guide to Occitan and troubadour literature, Robert Taylor provides a definitive survey of the field of Occitan literary studies - from the earliest enigmatic texts to the fifteenth-century works of Occitano-Catalan poet Jordi de Sant Jordi - and treats over two thousand recent books and articles with full annotations. Taylor includes articles on related topics such as practical approaches to the language of the troubadours and the musicology of select troubadour songs, as well as articles situated within sociology, religious history, critical methodology, and psychoanalytical analysis. Each listing offers descriptive comments on the scholarly contribution of each source to Occitan literature, with remarks on striking or controversial content, and numerous cross-references that identify complementary studies and differing opinions. Taylor's painstaking attention to detail and broad knowledge of the field ensure that this guide will become the essential source for Occitan literary studies worldwide.

Italian Historical Rural Landscapes - Mauro Agnoletti 2012-12-09

Sustainable development and rural policies have pursued strategies where farming has been often regarded as a factor deteriorating the ecosystem. But the current economic, social and environmental problems of the Earth probably call for examples of a positive integration between human society and nature. This research work presents more than a hundred case studies where the historical relationships between man and nature have generated, not deterioration, but cultural, environmental, social and economic values. The results show that is not only the economic face of globalization that is negatively affecting the landscape, but also inappropriate environmental policies. The CBD-UNESCO program on biocultural diversity, the FAO Globally Important Agricultural Heritage Systems and several projects of the International Union of Forest Research Organizations, as well as European rural policies acknowledge the importance of cultural values associated to landscape. This research intends to support these efforts.

Il collezionista di Marsiglia - Peter Mayle
2011-03-10T00:00:00+01:00

Tutto comincia con un taccuino, 182 fogli a quadretti più alcuni sparsi, dove una calligrafia un po' infantile, da maestra, ha annotato le ricette del repertorio di famiglia. Mamma le ha raccolte da parenti e amiche, alcune le ha copiate dal Talismano della felicità: in gran parte però arrivano da nonna Armida, e dunque da un Ottocento che in questo modo riesce ancora a trasmettere il suo bagaglio di storia e di sapori. Gli ultimi assaggi di queste Ricette di famiglia arrivano invece dai sushi bar e dagli happy hour che vanno di moda oggi, dove si assaggia ma non si mangia. I pranzi e gli spuntini sono quelli di una famiglia che, generazione dopo generazione, bizzarra dopo bizzarra, attraversa più di un secolo di storia d'Italia, dalle dimore di campagna dove si riunivano le grandi famiglie patriarcali ai bilocali metropolitani che ospitano le nostre inquietudini. Ricette di famiglia è anche una girandola di personaggi indimenticabili: la mamma che si lamenta perché fa tutto lei ma impedisce a chiunque di avvicinarsi ai fornelli; il babbo C'è un patrimonio di inestimabile valore nascosto in una lussuosissima villa di Hollywood Heights. Si tratta di una collezione di vini tra i più pregiati e preziosi che si possano trovare sul mercato:

Lafite Rothschild, Latour, Margaux, Figeac, Pétrus. Ogni bottiglia vale migliaia di dollari e Danny Roth, un ricco avvocato, le conserva gelosamente, lontano da occhi indiscreti. Ma un giorno commette un errore e accetta di parlare dei suoi favolosi esemplari al «Los Angeles Times» per un'intervista illustrata. Un peccato di vanità fatale, perché, durante la notte di Natale, qualcuno fa irruzione nella villa e i vini vengono rubati. A indagare sul furto viene assoldato Sam Levitt, un investigatore privato dal passato oscuro e rocambolesco: prima ladro-gentiluomo, poi avvocato. Sam è l'unico in grado di risolvere velocemente questa spinosa questione, proprio grazie ai suoi trascorsi non proprio limpidi. Per localizzare una refurtiva così preziosa le prime ore sono fondamentali. Ecco perché Sam non perde tempo e inizia subito un viaggio che dai filari di viti della California lo porta fino ai vigneti baciati dal caldo sole del Sud della Francia, a Bordeaux, la capitale mondiale del vino. Qui, aiutato dalla bellissima e misteriosa esperta di vini Sophie Costes, si mette sulle tracce di un ricco collezionista di Marsiglia, monsieur Reboul. È solo un caso che l'uomo, l'anno prima, abbia tentato di comprare parecchi dei vini scomparsi? Per scoprirlo Sam e Sophie dovranno addentrarsi nei bui corridoi della cantina di Reboul, anche usando mezzi non del tutto leciti... Dopo il grande successo di Un'ottima annata, Peter Mayle torna nel Sud della Francia per regalarci un giallo gustoso e seducente. Un bouquet perfetto che unisce cibo, vino e avventura e che sicuramente soddisferà anche i palati più esigenti.

All'ombra di Pouillon - Giulio Barazzetta 2021-11-04

L'opera di Fernand Pouillon s'impone all'attenzione perché mostra una via per il nostro mestiere chiara nella sua semplice evidenza: la cura per un'architettura concepita come fatto urbano già nel suo farsi costruzione nel progetto, che non disgiunge gli aspetti operativi dai risultati. Ma come può veri carsi questo legame così concretamente materiale? Come si raggiunge quella straordinaria unità con la città esistente di architetture in continuità fra nuovo e antico? Come si realizza quella sensazione di bellezza che si coglie al variare della luce e dei colori?

Fusing Decision Support Systems Into the Fabric of the Context - IOS Press 2012-06-13

The field of Information Systems has been shifting from an 'immersion view', which relies on the immersion of information technology (IT) as part of the business environment, to a 'fusion view' in which IT is fused within the business environment, forming a unified fabric that integrates work and personal life, as well as personal and public information. In the context of this fusion view, decision support systems should achieve a total alignment with the context and the personal preferences of users. The advantage of such a view is an opportunity of seamless integration between enterprise environments and decision support system components. Thus, researchers and practitioners have to address the challenges of dealing with this shift in viewpoint and its consequences for decision making and decision support systems theories and applications. This book presents the latest innovations and advances in decision support systems with a special focus on the fusion view. These achievements will be of interest to all those involved and interested in decision making practice and research, as well as, more generally, in the fusion view of modern information systems. The book covers a wide range of topical themes including a fusion view of business intelligence and data warehousing, applications of multi-criteria decision analysis, intelligent models and technologies for decision making, knowledge management, decision support approaches and models for emergency management, and medical and other specific domains.
